News from the farm:

The weather so far this year has been mixed and relatively mild, allowing winter to slip by nearly un-noticed, long may this continue! Pregnancy scanning of the main herd took place recently with excellent results leading to new life appearing on the farm from mid February onwards, a busy and fruitful time in the offing! Meanwhile the winter jobs go on, namely those of livestock feeding and bedding down. Out in the fields hedgecutting, mid-winter mucking out, end of year stocktaking, valuations and importantly catching up on staff holidays are all work in progress, keeping our noses to the farming grindstone, lovely!!

Everyone on the farm appreciated your Christmas cards and we were very pleased to have so many compliments about the wonderful turkeys, as always reared to perfection by Andrew Denis.
